

Hair Cutting and Shaping Techniques

ANCHETA, Kenzie M.
BSED 3F-1

Hair Cutting Techniques

Hair Cutting

The act of cutting and shaping someone's hair

Graduation

Using the length of the outside line as a guide, the hair is held away from the head cutting away the bulk from the outside line.

Thinning

With scissors or razor the hair can be thinned to either, increase volume at the root by reducing the weight or to soften the features of the style

Freehand

The stylist uses his/her scissors to cut the hair without holding it in the other hand's fingers or using any other tool to hold the hair in place.

Texturizing

The hair is cut to different lengths to produce a variety of different looks.

Carve and Slice

Hairstylist assesses each curl and carves out the haircut piece-by-piece rather than just taking length off from the bottom, which in turn could lead to a stacked pyramid effect.

Twist Cutting

is a great way for a stylist to do an angled haircut, such as for bangs.

a stylist will gather a section of the hair that she will twist then cut.

Hair Shaping Techniques

Hair Shaping

Means cutting your hair in a different style or shape.

V shape

The “V” is heavily layered to create a V-shaped point at the ends

U Shape

“U” is largely rounded on the sides to the ends.

